

Government should not interfere with Satellite radio's ability to offer programming choices. Broadcast radio should consider making it's programming better to compete against Satellite radio.